Instructions

(Please read to those you are observing)

As you review the website, we are interested in your complete experience—how much time it takes, points of confusion, items which you particularly like or enjoy, areas where more explanation is needed, wording changes, recommendations. No item is too small. Chances are if this is your perspective, then others will have the same experience. We want your criticism. We want you to try and “break it” or push it to its limits. If you find yourself questioning something or hesitant, assume its something we should revise—don’t assume its your own lack of computer experience or something like that. Let us know if you have to reread the instructions, or just don’t “get it”. Let us know where you find yourself skipping the instructions, or feeling the need to click on “help”.
